Welcome Comment

Welcome to Wednesday's challenges Year Six, I hope you are keeping well and finding plenty to keep yourselves busy. I have been amazed this week at your wonderful Art entries, you really have come up with some very clever ideas.

Below are your tasks for today! As usual, let me know how you get on via the year 6 email, it has been brilliant to hear from so many of you already this week.

English Task

Today I would like you to get into the character of Maia from Journey to the river sea. Your task is to plan and write a letter as if you are Maia which will be written to Mrs Carter with the aim of persuading her to put the Lysol spray away and head outside into the fresh air. Can you be so persuasive that Mrs Carter would feel she should end her own self enforced lockdown?

Art/Computing Task

Today I have a very special Art and Computing challenge for you to have a go at.

Artist Andrew James Round is working on a project called Islands in the Sky. He is creating a computer game where you can explore a series of interconnected islands floating above the city of Worcester. These islands will be made up of rooms created by children and families from Worcester and Kidderminster. Players will be rewarded as they explore.

I have attached full instructions and a template for you to use to design your room, use your imagination and try your best. I will then send in the entries to the main competition.

Any Further Guidance

I hope you enjoy today's tasks, particularly the design a computer game room challenge, this should be great fun.

Tomorrow will be our last set of work for this week as Friday is a bank holiday and celebration of V.E Day. We will investigate this in tomorrow's lessons. Bye for now!
