Welcome Comment

Morning Year 3. I hope you had a fabulous weekend and are ready for a whole new set of challenges this week. As we have finished our class novel we are going to have a fishy themed week. 😊

There is a new sport challenge this week which can be found on the school website under 'Staying Active, Fresh Air and Sunlight.' Have fun and stay active!

English Task

This week we are going to focus on The Rainbow Fish Once you have listened to the story. I would like you to think about what makes a good friend. Think of a good friend that you have. What makes him/her a good friend? What are the things you like about him/her? Create a poster with traits of a good friend. Title the poster 'Traits of a good friend' and write at least five characteristics of what it means to be a good friend.

Maths Task

Start by doing Times tables Rockstars. Your scores are really improving so keep going!

Today our Maths task is a little different. It's called 'Maths About Me!' To start with, draw a picture of yourself or use a photo for the middle of your work. Around the outside I would then like you to think about the maths that makes up you. For example, how old are you? But then, because we are in Year 4, instead of just writing your age in years, how many days would that be? Maybe even hours? You could include your height, shoe size, how many teddies you have – anything! But the challenge is to think about how you can display your numbers in interesting ways. Maybe you could look at height in feet and inches as well as metres and centimetres or create calculations that need to be solved to show your number. Get creative and challenge yourself. I think you will be surprised at just how many numbers make you.

Foundation Subject Task

Miss D has set a family 'Reading Challenge' for you today. Your challenge is to create a reading den. Reading dens are special spaces to curl up with a book. They don't need to be permanent – in fact temporary dens, built from household objects are best! There are loads of different ways to make one. You could use a rug, sheet or even a pile of cushions to create a cubbyhole in an unexpected place. You could turn a huge cardboard box into a reading castle, or drape a rug or sheet over a washing line to create a reading tent. Small children can even snuggle up under an umbrella on a rug. To turn a den into a reading den, just add cushions, blankets... and books! You might create some reading inspired art work to add a finishing touch. When it is finished, sit down to read one or two books together as a reward for your hard work. Don't forget to send over your photos and we will choose some of the best ones to put on the school website. Happy den building!

Any further guidance

Don't forget to email me to show what you are getting up to or simply to say hello. Please just drop me a quick message to let me know how you're getting on. I really do love to hear from you all and like to know that you're all ok! Take care and have a great day!
