Welcome Comment

Hey Year Six, welcome to Wednesday and the middle of the week already. I hope you are all staying safe and remaining positive. Below are today's activities for you to have a go at. Try your best and keep working hard, you are doing an amazing job!

English/Transition Task

To begin with, I would like you to read for pleasure for fifteen minutes. Always remember this doesn't have to be a book, it can be a newspaper, magazine or even a cook book.

Here is today's countdown conundrum:

I E D I T C I A N

As part of preparing for secondary school, we all need to become more independent. Over the rest of this week I am going to give you some scenarios that I want you to try and come up with advice for, on how to deal with the situation. Answers in to the year six email please. Here are your first two below:

"I've got two really good friends who don't like each other. One keeps inviting me to things and leaving the other one out. It's getting awkward and I don't know what to do. Can you help me?"

"I got my hot dinner from the counter and realised I'd forgotten to put money on my dinner card. What should I do?"

Maths Task

Today's Maths challenge is below, can you solve it and get the correct answer into the Year Six email in the fastest time:

Counters.

Jack has four different coloured counters.
He arranges them in a row.
How many different ways can he arrange them?
One has been done for you.

There are 24 possible combinations.

Foundation Task

I would like you to head to <https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/articles/z7ww7nb> where it will revise lifecycles of humans, animals and plants. There are plenty of fun videos and quizzes for you to take part in, and this will revise a key area we would normally have covered in school.

Any Further Guidance

I look forward to your response today Year Six, particularly on how to deal with my secondary school scenarios. Stay safe!

Mr Salisbury.
